

Specialist Teaching Model for pupils with dyslexia

PSS are pleased to offer a coaching model of specialist teaching, the aim of which is to train a member of school staff to deliver a recognised programme to pupils with dyslexia. This consists of a 6 week or 12 week programme of support from a PSS teacher with the British Dyslexia ATS or AMBDA accreditation. The PSS teacher will work alongside a member of school staff to deliver a specialist teaching approach to individuals or a small group of two pupils. By the end of the coaching period, the school staff member will be equipped to continue delivery to these and other pupils with dyslexia.

Who is this for?

- Pupils with dyslexia for whom progress is limited through traditional teaching methods.

Benefits

- Increased capacity for school to support pupils with dyslexia to make progress.
- An excellent CPD opportunity for a member of school staff (Teacher or TA).

What is included?

- Consultation sessions with school staff to set up, evaluate and develop teaching.
- Weekly delivery of one modelled lesson, then support with planning the second lesson delivered by school staff.
- Course materials, including published teaching book.

What does school need?

- Commitment from SLT to ensure that agreed time and resources are dedicated to smooth delivery to ensure pupil progress.

Cost

6 week programme : £1,100

12 week programme : £2,200

Please email Rosie Mason for further details or to arrange a package of support

Rosie.Mason@birmingham.gov.uk